

Call for informal poster display

Are you involved in running a local respiratory nurse group?

Invitation for informal poster display at Local Respiratory Nurse Group Forum

24th September 2009, 1500-1945 hours, University of Warwick

The General Practice Airways Group is committed to providing quality respiratory information and support to nurses working at practice level throughout the UK. We are inviting all nurses either involved in running a local respiratory nurse group, or interested in setting up a new group, to join us on 24th September 2009, 1500-1945 hours, at Warwick University for a highly practical, interactive, informative meeting to share ideas with those who have been successful in this area.

As part of this meeting, the GPIAG are inviting existing groups to display information about their group's story, share their experience of establishing the group and keeping it going, and highlight the successes and issues or problems faced and how they overcame them.

Remember when you first started your group and all the things you have learnt along the way? Why not share your story and tell everyone about your local group, about all the things you did to make it a success, about the pitfalls or struggles along the way?

These posters will be displayed in an informal exhibition area, alongside mini skills workshops and a chance to have a chat and snack with other nurse group leaders and the GPIAG nurse committee members before the main meeting. (Oral presentation is not required.) We would really appreciate you attending the meeting and participating in the roundtable discussions to share your experiences too. Details of the meeting (and the GPIAG Primary Care Conference which follows) can be found at <http://www.gpiag.org>

Posters should be no more than 1m², they will not include a review process and, if you need any assistance in producing them we can help you. (We can provide a PowerPoint or Word template if it helps!)

If you've got any hints and tips for others, please contact us if you wish to display a poster:
